DONAGHY

— CREATIVE STUDIO —

HEY! HI! HELLO!

I'm Erika Donaghy (It's pronounced like "donna-hey")
I'm the artist and owner behind Erika Donaghy Creative Studio.

I'm a muralist, painter, and potter living in Dillon, Colorado, high in the Colorado Rockies. As a result of living in this amazing place, you'll find a lot of natural themes throughout my work, particularly the trees and mountains that I am lucky enough to be surrounded by. Art has changed the way that I see the world around me; I find more joy and beauty in the everyday details and I hope that feeling comes through when you experience my work.

Whether it is a mural, custom pottery, or a landscape painting of a special place, I love collaborating with my clients to make something special. Art truly has the power to transform your space and help create special connections to your community. I look forward to discussing how adding custom art to your space can help you create connections with your customers.

HAPPY CLIENTS

I have worked with a wide variety of clients (including private homeowners, not listed here) to create custom works of art that further the business objectives of my clients. The clients listed here are those I have worked with on the following types of projects:

MURALS

Adding a mural to your business is an excellent way to attract attention and engage your customers. It can create interest and draw potential customers into your space, it can set the mood for the room, and can encourage customers to share your business on social media as a great backdrop for fun group photos.

As a muralist, I love working directly with my clients to create the perfect large scale art that ties into the decor and feel of the space, while representing your vision and values of your business.

CLIENT TESTIMONIALS

Erika Donaghy is an important member of the arts and culture community here in Silverthorne. During the summer of 2020, she created a beautiful 8 ft x 4 ft standing mural along our recreation path in Silverthorne giving residents access to outdoor public art. Her artwork helped bring our community together as she painted this mural live during one of our town events. Our community truly relates and attaches to this piece along the river. We receive a lot of positive feedback about the stunning standing mural on the recreation path in Silverthorne.

-Sydney Schwab, Arts and Culture Manager, Town of Silverthorne

We were repainting our bedroom and wanted something more than blank walls, something special to us and something that would last. I had seen some of Erika's mural projects around Summit County and decided she had just the skills we needed. After talking about dimensions and color schemes I sent a few mountain photos to her and let her run with the design. My only request was a few lodge pole pines [I'm obsessed with her trees!]. Erika sent me a few online renderings, we settled on a final design, and scheduled two days for the painting. We were both working from home at the time but barely even noticed Erika in our house - aside from all the times we popped our head in the room to check out the progress. We are so happy with the final results. I would definitely recommend Erika for any murals or large scale commission paintings you may need. She was very easy to work with, did great work, and allowed us to have some input on the art that we would quite literally be looking at every day.

Waking up every morning to a gorgeous mural of sun rise mountains brings me joy every day. Erika is a phenomenal artist who continues to challenge her talent by committing to crazy requests like mine! We had a blast picking out colors and coming up with this rogue design. Her vision, dedication and creativity are an inspiration.
